Career Development

Career Development grants provide up to $4,000 in funding support for individual heritage practitioners to attend training or educational opportunities that will support them gaining new skills and knowledge for them to use in create in developing new heritage work in Edmonton

Jessica Sanderson-Barry

Fall Hide Camp & Bead, Hide & Fur Symposium

Amount Awarded: $2,572

Project Summary: The purpose of attending both these community events is accessibility and capacity skill development. It is very rare to have these types of community gatherings in and around the Edmonton area. To be immersed in the presence of different Knowledge Keepers is how transmission of knowledge begins. Jessica's art practice is based on the foundation of sharing oral stories and hands-on learning. The outcome of her attending both Fall Hide Camp and Bead, Hide & Fur Symposium is to build relationships, share best practices, and most importantly to build capacity in her own art practice. She will be able to bring these new skills home and apply to her own art practice.

Robert Tyndale

Part-time Youtuber Academy

Amount Awarded: $3,243.50

Project Summary: Robert Tyndale hopes to use this funding to support taking a course, Part-time Youtuber Academy. Being a heritage practitioner working in the intersection of digital design and communication as a filmmaker in Edmonton, he hopes to use these new skills in Youtube to better bridge the gaps in engaging Edmonton on issues related to the black community.

Amount Awarded: $17,500

Project Summary: Société Généalogique du Nord-Ouest aims to work with a professional archivist to make an inventory of their holdings, developing comprehensive records management and archival policies as well as a system for eventually sorting through and identifying those documents to be discarded or preserved in a manner that will make them more easily accessible to researchers and clients.

Société historique francophone d'Edmonton Franco-Albertan Digitization Strategy

Amount Awarded: $20,000

Project Summary: Building on its new graphic design, website, and podcast, la SHFA will accelerate its online presence through greater access to and dissemination of Franco-Albertan history and heritage online. The project focuses on three overarching objectives: 1) to transfer existing resources to the new website, 2) to add rare and unique resources to the new website, and 3) to transform analog content into drafts that can be published online according to a plan. This project will allow researchers greater access to information in English and French and will enable SHFA to disseminate more content without a dedicated communications staff.

Community Project Grant

Community Project Grants are designed to provide assistance—up to 75 percent of an applicant's eligible expenses, to a maximum of $20,000—for non-profit organizations to undertake projects that preserve, research, document, interpret, celebrate, and raise awareness of the history and heritage of Edmonton.

Centre Communautaire d'Edmonton Indigenous Cultural Programming - Transitions

Amount Awarded: $22,950

Project Summary: The project's primary goal is to offer authentic Indigenous cultural experiences as part of the 2021 Flying Canoe Volant celebrations in hybrid (combinations of live and virtual) presentations to accommodate current health guidelines. The objective of the Indigenous programming is to provide opportunities for guests to connect with the experiences, history, shared communities and stories. Transitioning the programming from live to hybrid involves the creation of pre-recorded content, increased onsite technical support (projectors, cameras, video screens, PA systems, and technician) and other associated costs.

Film and Video Arts Society of Alberta Voices of Diversity

Amount Awarded: $25,000

Project Summary: This project will catalog, digitize, preserve, and exhibit 32 seminal works from the FAVA Media Arts Collection. These works reflect and illustrate the wide diversity of the organization's filmmakers. It will feature voices of women, 2SLGBTQ+ community members, Indigenous people, newcomers, and the working poor. The project will not only provide a new opportunity for these stories to be told, but will also encourage artists who encounter barriers of ethnicity, gender, and economics to contribute their voices to future works of media art.

Oliver Community League
#UncoverOliver Film Project
Amount Awarded: $25,000

Project Summary: The #UncoverOliver Film Project harnesses the power of cinema by producing a short documentary film that captures an Indigenous-led campaign between Oliver residents and the Oliver Community League, bringing the community together to uncover who we are in Edmonton.
