Planning Analysis

Land Use Compatibility

The road closure areas are being rezoned residential and the unclosed portions will remain as roadway with future subdivision and development of the rezoning lands for residential, in accordance with the Riverview Neighbourhood 3 NSP. The application proposes to rezone the site from (AG) Agricultural Zone to (RLD) Residential Low Density Zone. The RLD Zone allows for a range of low-density housing and lot sizes to accommodate a mix of low density housing types. This zone is typically used in new and developing neighbourhoods and provides flexibility in the form of various lot sizes and configurations including zero lot line development. As the site is primarily surrounded by low density residential uses, the proposed RLD Zone will be compatible with the existing and future surrounding development.

RLD Zoning Summary

	RLD Proposed
Principal Building	Single Detached Semi-detached Duplex Housing
Maximum Height	10.0 m
Minimum Front Setback	min 3.0 m
Minimum Interior Side Setback	ranges 0 m to min 1.2 m
Minimum Flanking Side Setback	min 2.4 m
Minimum Rear Setback	min 7.5 m (4.5 m on a corner site)

Plans in Effect

The rezoning area is located within the Riverview Area Structure Plan (ASP) and the Riverview Neighbourhood 3 NSP (River's Edge). The proposal conforms with the intent of the ASP and the NSP.

The proposed rezoning aligns with the City Plan by accommodating future growth toward a population threshold of 1.25 million within Edmonton's existing boundaries.

Technical Review

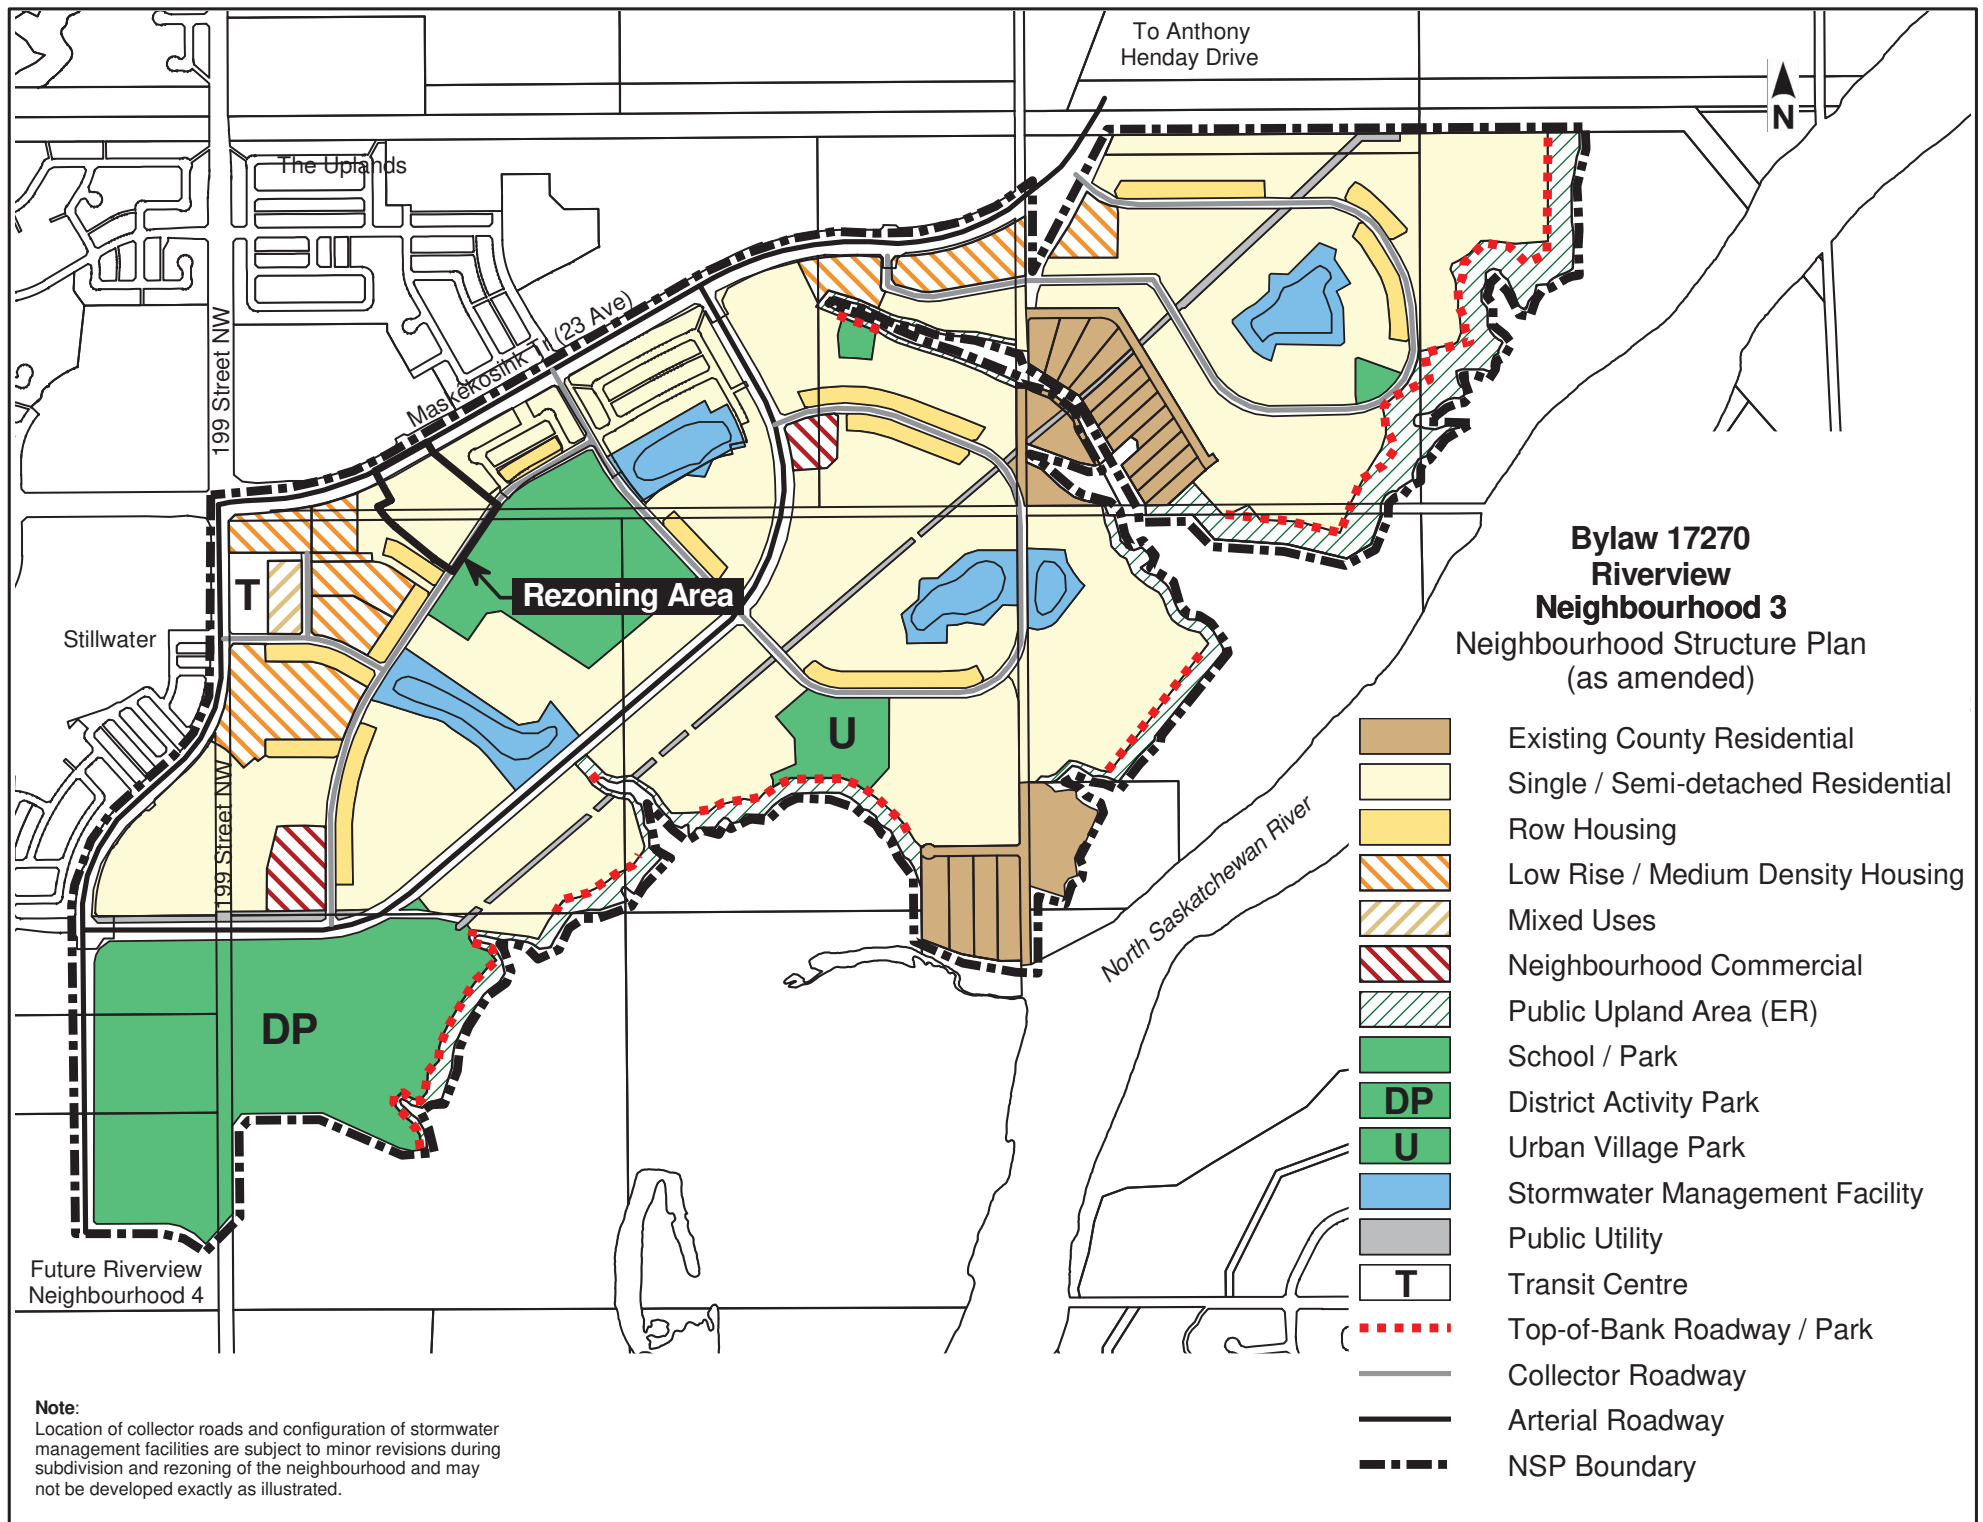

Transportation

The Riverview Neighbourhood 3 and Uplands Neighbourhood Structure Plans identify a Priority Pedestrian Crossing at 23 Avenue and 196 Street/Uplands Boulevard. Priority Pedestrian crossings have minimum pedestrian crossing times across 23 Avenue and are provided at all time periods (i.e. no pedestrian actuation). Traffic and pedestrian volumes and development patterns will be monitored in the area; with installation of the signal conditioned with a future subdivision in the area.

All other comments from affected City Departments and utility agencies have been addressed.
