Rose Herman

Edmonton Historical Board

Rose is an experienced land consultant and Licensed Land Agent, with a 40 year history of working in the Technology, Gas, Energy, and Telecommunications industries. Rose specialized in the analysis of land history, the resolution of title and legal issues, and the negotiation of complex land transactions. She is a lifelong Edmontonian, community volunteer, and HomeOwners Association Board Member.

Darren Wagner

Edmonton Historical Board

Darren is a historian and soon-to-be lawyer. He grew up in Parkland County, where he spent summers farming cucumbers. Since then, he held many odd jobs, including tree planter, museum curator, farmhand for winter wheat research, transcriber of gothic poetry, and lecturer on a cruise ship. His educational background includes a bachelor’s degree in biological sciences and English literature, a master’s degree in interdisciplinary studies (reproductive biology and 18th-century literature), a doctorate in the history of medicine, and a law degree from the University of Alberta. He held research and teaching positions as a postdoctoral fellow at McGill University and the Charité University of Medicine in Berlin. His historical expertise is somewhat niche: enlightenment-era sex, neurology, and reproduction in medicine, science, and literature. During law school, he worked with the Health Law Institute.

Attachment 2

He recently held a clerkship at the Court of King's Bench of Alberta and is now completing his articles at Field Law.
