New Appointee Biography:

Mark Hoosein

Mark Hoosein is the Chief Executive Officer of the Alberta Construction Safety Association (ACSA). He has experience in strategic execution, government and industry relations, financial management and governance. Prior to joining the ACSA, Mark was the Chief Operating Officer of Civida where he had specific responsibilities around construction project management and property management, tenant and customer relations and security, and the operation and management of a very complex and regulated non-profit. Mark has a strong belief in intellectual freedom and of the library as a protector of this intellectual freedom.

Born and raised in Edmonton, Mark has a long relationship with EPL. As a boy he would spend a lot of time at the old Beamaris branch. More recently, he and his wife shared their love of the library with their two boys, taking both to Sing, Sign, Laugh and Learn at the beautiful new Capilano and Highlands Branches when they were younger. Both boys now participate in EPL’s Summer Reading Program and share their parents’ voracious appetite for reading and knowledge.
